DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-5 and 7-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by 6580486 (486) See rejection mailed 9/12/05.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by 60974457 (457).

Per claims 1 and 2, 457 teaches a liquid crystal display device, comprising: a first substrate having a display region and a non-display region around the periphery of the display region [10 and 43]; a second substrate [20]; a liquid crystal layer sandwiched between the first substrate and the second substrate see column 1, lines 15-35]; and a first shading film set between the first substrate and the liquid crystal layer within the non-display region of the first substrate [shielding layer 43].

Per claim 3, 457 teaches the liquid crystal display device of claim 1, further comprises a plurality of lead lines positioned over the non-display region of the first substrate [31].

Per claim 4, 457 teaches the liquid crystal display device of claim 3, wherein the first shading film is positioned over the gap between neighboring lead lines within the non-display region and the first shading film and the lead lines are electrically isolated from each other and located at different height levels [inherent as is required to be at different levels to isolate currents].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claim 21 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over 457. 457 lacks a shielding layer on the other substrate. However, it was well known to provide cells with two shielding layers in order to improve contrast and protect the TFTs. Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention combine the well known shielding layer with 457.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 6 objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

Art Unit: 2871

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 12/12/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Regarding applicant's argument, the shielding layers are inherently not display regions when out side the pixel regions. Accordingly, as recited in the rejection, the non-display region shielding layer is just that.
